SAINT FRANCIS MEDICAL CENTER

A commitment to life.

April 11, 2007

Dear Physician:

We are sorry to report that we will be closing the hyperbaric medicine facility at OSF St. Francis Medical Center in Peoria. We will accept patients requiring emergency treatment through April 30, 2007, following which we will be closed. We appreciate having had the opportunity to serve your patients since the chamber opened in 1989.

If questions arise concerning treatment of patients with emergency indications, such as carbon monoxide poisoning, I will be happy to discuss them with you. If needed call me through the Physicians Access Line (309) 655-PALS (7257).

Below are listed regional hospitals that provide emergency hyperbaric oxygen treatment:

Advocate Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, IL

University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics, Iowa City, IA

Clarian Health, Indianapolis, IN

Thank you for your support.

Sincerely,

W. Anthony Sauder, MD
Medical Director, Hyperbaric Medicine
